*"Marijuana is now the number one reason why kids enter treatment—more than alcohol, cocaine, heroin, meth,
ecstasy, and other drugs combined."*

—Dr. Kevin Sabet
"Reefer Sanity" p. 26

For years many people have believed marijuana is harmless, it's medicine, and it's natural so why don't we just legalize the use of marijuana? Using the growing body of evidence on marijuana and its health and societal effects, Dr. Sabet challenges seven commonly held myths about marijuana. Join this online book study and learn from the book and each other.

Training Location & Date:

This online class is offered through a Google Community, June 1-30, 2017.

Participants will read "Reefer Sanity," then:

1. explore the research debunking seven commonly held myths about marijuana,
2. discuss the seven myths by posting and responding to fellow participants, and
3. conclude their book study experience by submitting a final paper reflecting on their learning and how he or she will apply the learning to their practice.

Optional: one graduate credit available for an additional fee of $200. Credit application and credit fee (payable to Viterbo University) should be mailed to:
